

The Law, Justice and Culture Institute 2023

"Justice, justice shall you pursue, that you may thrive." - Deuteronomy 16:20

Sponsored by The Center for Law and Culture at OLIVET NAZARENE UNIVERSITY

"No other class prepared me more for how to excel in law school and in public life than the Institute."

- Honorable Morse Tan

Formerly U.S. Ambassador at Large for Global Criminal Justice

Content

Formulate a vibrant, biblical view of engaging public life for Christ by exploring:

- Law and the administration of justice among the ancient Hebrews
- The "higher law" foundations of the American constitutional order
- Nazism, the Nuremberg trials, and the resurgence of natural law

Credit

Three hours of academic credit (political science/history). Visiting students should check with their home institutions to ensure pre-approval of transfer credit.

Faculty

Prof. Charles J. Emmerich (J.D., LL.M.) and five to six distinguished guest lecturers

Location

Olivet Nazarene University, Bourbonnais, Illinois (Chicagoland area)

Enrollment

Limited to 15 college students with competitive GPAs; 5 audit seats available to community leaders or citizens, including law and graduate students.

Creation Care Practicum

This one-day practicum will explore biblical principles of stewardship, conflict management, and sustainability based on Dr. Susan Emmerich's faith-based stewardship work on Tangier Island shown in her film, When Heaven Meets Earth: Faith, Environment and the Chesapeake. Participants will gain the knowledge and tools necessary to apply these methods and principles at the community level.

Application and Registration Form

Students interested in enrolling in the Law, Justice and Culture Institute should complete this form and mail it, along with a $250 check made payable to Olivet Nazarene University, to the address on the bottom of this form. Due to the small size and rigorous nature of the Institute, the Center for Law and Culture retains complete discretion to determine which applicants are accepted into the program. For students accepted into the program, the $250 deposit secures enrollment and will be deducted from the Institute's tuition cost. In the event an applicant is not accepted into the program, the Center will promptly refund the applicant's $250 deposit. Students desiring to attend the Institute should apply as soon as possible because the Center uses a rolling admissions approach (i.e., highly qualified students are accepted as they apply). To encourage early applications, tuition will be reduced by $50 for visiting (non-Olivet) students taking the Institute for academic credit who have mailed this form on or before Friday, March 24, 2023. The balance of tuition is due on or before Monday, May 1. Students accepted into the program for academic credit who withdraw on or before this date forfeit the $250 registration deposit. Those who withdraw on or after Tuesday, May 9, without valid extenuating circumstances, forfeit a total of $495.
